Motor Cars Collide on Broadway.

E. W. Stephens' car, driven by a chauffeur and one of the cars of the Jackson Taxicab Company, collided at Tenth street and Broadway about 8:30 o'clock last night. SAT DOWN TO DINNER WITH GRIDIRON CLUB

Dean Walter Williams Was a Guest at Annual Frolic in Washington.

'BIG GUNS' SATIRIZED

Missourians Invited President Wilson to Visit M. U. Next Spring.

Dean Walter Williams of the School of Journalism returned to Columbia last night from Washington, D. C., where he attended the annual dinner of the Gridiron Club Saturday night. The Gridiron Club is composed of about fifty Washington correspondents of newspapers throughout the country.

The dinner was attended by President Wilson, members of the Cabinet, diplomats, senators, representatives and eminent men from all over the country. Addresses were delivered by President Wilson, Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War, and the Japanese ambassador. It is a custom of the club that "reporters are never present" at the dinner; so the speeches were not published.

The entertainment consisted mostly of skits on the recent election. Chairman Wilcox and McCormick met in the boxing ring; the Adamson Bill and the Child Labor Law, dressed as the Gold Dust Twins, sang a duet in which they asked the President if he liked them as well as he did before the election; the waiters declared a strike and demanded immediate legislation from Congress. The woman suffrage banner, which mysteriously disappeared shortly after it had been exhibited at the opening session of Congress, again demanded of President Wilson, "What are you going to do for woman suffrage?" The favor given the diners was a little book entitled "The I-Did-It Club," which explained in a humorous way who re-elected President Wilson.

Dean Williams and Champ Clark, speaker of the House of Representatives, invited President Wilson to visit the University next Journalism Week. The President said that while he could make no promises, he hoped to visit the West after Congress adjourned in the spring. If he does come west, he said, he would like to stop in Columbia. Journalism Week will be May 7 to 12.

Dean Williams gave an address last week at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill N. C., as a part of the program of Newspaper Week. This is North Carolina's first experience in devoting a week to journalism.

DR. RAVENEL SWATS DRUG HABIT

Users of Alcohol Die Quicker Than Abstainers, Says Speaker.

Several hundred men heard Dr. M. P. Ravenel lecture on the drug habit in the University Auditorium last night.

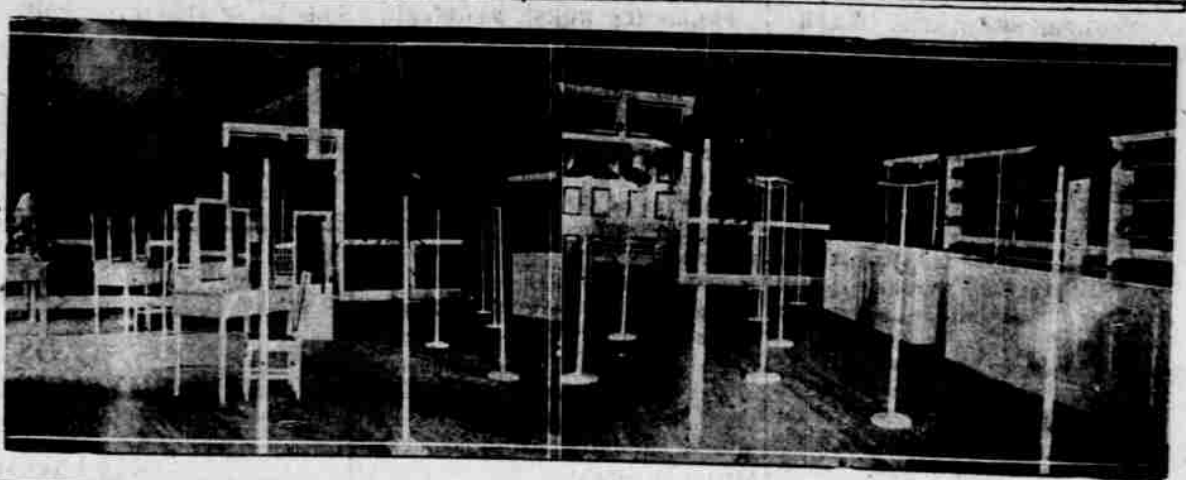

Doctor Ravenel emphasized the dangers of the drugs in alcoholic drinks and tobacco and explained why reputable medical men make little use of either for medicinal purposes. He said that there are other remedies less harmful which are better for the treatment of ill.

The speaker read statements of life insurance companies that showed a higher death rate among users of alcohol. At the close of his talk Doctor Ravenel answered questions.

The Gift of Perfect Music The New Edison On Christmas Day

Means the Beginning of a New Happiness because you will never grow tired of the New Edison

WHEN you hear people say that they grow tired of "talking machine" music don't be surprised. Of course they grow tired of its mere mechanical approximation of the living tone. This is not music. The throbbing vigor, the delicate grace, the human inflection has been marred by an artificial metallic quality. And these are the few things in music that grip the emotions—that touch the heart-strings.

But Mr. Edison, in his remarkable new musical instrument, has found a way to preserve this subtle breath of reality. Actual comparisons with the living tone, here in Columbia, have proved this to be true. It is re-created music—pure, true, unblemished. It will thrill you a year from now—five years from now—just as truly as it will today.

Hear This Re-created Music

A revelation awaits you at our store. If you have not heard Mr. Edison's new art you simply cannot realize how wonderful it is. Don't try to judge it by familiar standards of mere mechanical sound reproduction. For re-created music is as different from this as an art print is from an original oil painting.

Come in and pick out your favorite from the great library of M. Edison's re-created music. We will be delighted to play them for you without the slightest obligation on your part. Simply because we would like to have everyone know about Mr. Edison's new musical art.

"Of all sad words of tongue or pen,
The saddest are, it might of been."—an Edison

Reservations of Edison's will be made for Christmas. Come in any time for demonstrations. Open at night until after Christmas.
